FCC 1: BUSINESS AND INDUSTRY

Title: Target Bans Salvation Army Bell Ringers

Date: Week of October 18th, 2004

Info: The retail store Target has banned Salvation Army bell ringers, starting this holiday season. In the La Crosse area, Target in Onalaska has been the number one collection site for the Salvation Army. Last year, holiday shoppers dropped more than $13,000 dollars into the red kettle. That's 13 percent of all the Salvation Army's Red Kettle Donations. Target's corporate office says it has seen an increase in solicitation requests from non-profit groups. The store says if it continues to allow the Salvation Army on its property, it opens the doors for other groups as well.

Title: Piggy's Restaurant Finds New Location

Date: Week of October 4th, 2004

Info: Piggy's Restaurant owner, Chris Roderique, says he has bought the old Mike's Building Supply spot on King Street in La Crosse. It's just down the road from the restaurant's current location, and is still close to the Mississippi. The restaurant and the city still need to come up with a financial plan that makes the move possible. Roderique hopes to open the new location by April 1st, 2005. The purchase comes after the city of La Crosse announced that Logistics Health would build a corporate center on 3 acres of land, that includes Piggy's current property.

Title: Oktoberfest Second Weekend Stays

Date: Week of December 6th, 2004

Info: La Crosse's annual Oktoberfest celebration will stay a two week festival. That decision comes after a city task force recommended that the Oktoberfest Board shorten the festival down to one weekend. However, Myrna Schmidt, Oktoberfest Board President says the overwhelming majority were in favor of keeping the second weekend. The Board said they took a hard look at the second weekend, after the idea was presented last spring. However, Schmidt says less beer is sold the second weekend, and that weekend is also geared more toward local folks, and the older demographic. Petra Roter, co-chair of the task force, says the group will recommend the Oktoberfest eliminate the second weekend of Oktoberfest in 2006.

Title: TJ Maxx Opens

Date: Week of November 22nd, 2004

Info: Just in time for the holidays, a new retailer opens its doors in Onalaska. A long line of anxious shoppers waited outside TJ Maxx 'N More for the store's grand opening. It's located in the former Cub Foods Building across from the mall. You've probably heard of TJ Maxx before, but this is only the second TJ Maxx 'N More store in Wisconsin. In addition to the usual clothing selections, the store also has an extended line of home furnishing and accessories. The store will employ 100 full and part time employees.

FCC 2: GOVERNMENT AND POLITICS

Title: President Bush visits Onalaska

Date: Week of October 25th, 2004

Info: About 3,000 people packed into Onalaska's Omin Center to hear President Bush, as he made a campaign stop in Onalaska. People began arriving before six o'clock in the morning, and the arena was packed when the President started speaking about 8:30. Bush was accompanied by his wife Laura. He focused on mostly domestic issues in speech. He said his tax cuts have the economy on the right track. There was also plenty of criticism of his Democratic opponent, John Kerry, especially in relation to the war on terror. He said Kerry is the wrong choice in these critical times. The President also reached out to Democrats, saying John Kerry has abandoned the values of Democratic Presidents like Roosevelt and Kennedy.

Title: John Kerry Visits La Crosse on Election Day

Date: Week of November 1st, 2004

Info: "Let's get the job done." That was the message John Kerry wanted to spread in his final campaign speech, which he made here in La Crosse. The Democrat made his last push right here, meeting with about 300 supporters at the Baus Haus on La Crosse's South side. Kerry told the crowd he needs to win Western Wisconsin, and encouraged his supporters to keep going door to door until the polls close. Kerry arrived in La Crosse the night before the election. About 500 supporters greeted him at the airport as his plane arrived. His election day rally was the final one of his campaign. From there, it was back home to Massachusetts, where he was planning to get a bowl of clam chowder and head to the polls to vote.

Title: Mayor Medinger Not Running Again

Date: Week of October 29th, 2004

Info: La Crosse mayor John Medinger announced he will not run for reelection. He has served two terms. He was first elected in 1997 and reelected in 2001. He called it a difficult decision that he reached, only after months of intense personal debate. Medinger says this is not a retirement, but rather a decision to seek a new direction in life. The mayor issued a news release which he wrote it wasn't an easy decision to make, since he loves being mayor. He said it has been a privilege to be part of La Crosse's history. John Medinger is 57 years old, and has spent 30 years in politics. The mayor wanted to announce his decision in time to give potential candidates plenty of time to file the necessary papers. The election for mayor will be in April.

Title: Caroline Kennedy and Sharon Stone

Date: Week of October 22nd, 2004

Info: The group "Women on the Move" made a stop at UW-L, showing their support for presidential candidate John Kerry. They included some high profile women, like Caroline Kennedy and actress Sharon Stone. Their message was women need to rally together to vote for John Kerry. They said he understands what issues women face and he will help give them the tools they need to be successful. Caroline Kennedy was 15 years old when she worked on her first John Kerry campaign.

FCC 3: ENVIRONMENT

Title: Cranberry Harvest

Date: Week of October 4th, 2004

Info: Cranberry farmers geared up for the harvest season in early October. The folks at Weatherby Cranberry Company are busy as usual. It takes them about three weeks to harvest all of the berries. After coralling them in from the bogs, the cranberries are then taken to a receiving station. A cranberry mill sorts out all the berries, with the bounce test, weeding out the bad berries from the good ones. The company has used the mill since 1923. Commercial cranberry production started in Wisconsin around 1860. Today, there are about 250 cranberry producers in the state.

Title: Electronics Recycling

Date: Week of October 8th, 2004

Info: Before you fill up your recycling bin, you should know there are certain items in your home that have to be taken to a special location. If some electronics are put with the rest of your recycling, it could be dangerous. Dropping those things off at a collection site will keep dangerous materials away from people and from damaging the environment. So Best Buy and the city of La Crosse are offering a drop-off station at the store, where people can recycle electronics in a safe way. Many people have already taken advantage of it, and dropped off old computer parts, faxes, and TV's. All of the items collected are taken to a facility in the Twin Cities, where they'll be recycled safely.

Title: Asian Lady Beetles

Date: Week of October 19th, 2004

Info: Each fall, a small bug creates a big problem for many local residents. We're talking about the invasion of those Asian Lady Beetles. The small red insects make their way into our homes once the weather gets cold. Pest control experts say they aren't dangerous and won't cause any damage. However, they can be a nuisance. September is typically the worst month for Asian Lady Beetles. But, if you still have some in your home, the best way to get rid of them is to vacuum them up. If you squish them, they'll leave a stain on the surface they were on.

Title: Leonardo & Environment

Date: Week October 14th, 2004

Info: A big name Hollywood actor stopped by UW-La Crosse today to drum up supports for the Kerry campaign. 29 year old Leonardo DiCaprio got a very loud welcome at the UWL Cartwright Center. The crowd was relatively young, mostly college students voting in their first presidential election. DiCaprio is a big environmentalist. He says environmental issues are not getting enough attention in this year's election. He's also very critical of the Bush administration's environmental policies. He talked for about 15 minutes.

FCC 4: EDUCATION

Title: La Crescent Property Tax Hike

Date: Week of December 15th, 2004

Info: The La Crescent-Hokah School Board has approved a 67% property tax increase in their school taxes. The school district says they need the tax increase, in order to pay their bills. Two years ago, the district paid $1.2 million to improve the air quality in all of the school buildings. At the time, the district decided to spread the cost over a few years, hoping a referendum would pay for it. But voters turned down both referendums. Superintendent David Krenz says they've already stripped everything from their budget that they can, and they will not make further cuts to pay the debt.

Title: La Crosse Referendum

Date: Week of November 3rd, 2004

Info: The budget will come up short for the La Crosse School District after voters defeated the second part of a referendum. The district wanted to spend $38 million to close five elementary schools and build two new ones. Franklin Elementary school principal Jerry Berns says building repairs and consolidation should start now. He says putting it off will only make the project more expensive in the future. But the group opposed to the referendum, Save Our Neighborhood Schools, says the plan was simply too expensive for taxpayers. The referendum was voted down by just 555 votes.

Title: Distinguished Teachers

Date: Week of December 3rd, 2004

Info: Two Onalaska teachers have distinguished themselves in their profession. Irving Pertzsch's first grade teacher Sarah Heiderscheit, and second grade teacher Billie Finco, are now nationally board certified. The certification gives teachers a chance to examine their teaching methods. And research shows students learn more from teachers with the certification. The teachers have to pass a test to become certified, and it takes three years to complete the certification process.

Title: Career Expo

Date: Week of October 7th, 2004

Info: About 2,000 local high schoolers got a chance to get a learning experience outside the classroom. 50 volunteers from a variety of professions volunteered their time at the career expo at the La Crosse Center. Junior from 22 area high schools attended the Expo. The volunteers discussed the different backgrounds needed for certain careers. The students also had a chance to visit with more than 100 colleges and technical schools.

FCC 5: PUBLIC HEALTH

Title: Quitting the Habit

Date: Week of December 1st, 2004

Info: Nearly half of all Wisconsin smokers tried to quit last year. Almost 80% of smokers tried to quit cold turkey, but 90% started smoking again within three months. That's why more smokers are turnign to medication, like Zyban, to help them kick the habit. Medication can increase chances for success by almost 60%. Zyban is the first non-nicotine medication approved by the FDA to help smokers quit. Those who use the drug don't quit smoking right away. Once on the drug, smokers set a quit date to stop smoking during the second week. Then, it's one pill twice a day for at least seven weeks. Doctors say the drug works wonders for the appropriate patients.

Title: Holiday Nutrition

Date: Week of November 15th, 2004

Info: Many people try to eat a little differently when the holidays come around. Dietitians say if people are looking to keep a slim waistline, keep these tips in mind. Don't forget the fruits and vegetables. Put out a veggie tray. Add apples and cranberry to your stuffing. Also, experiment with lite and low-fat items. And most importantly, dietitians do not deprive yourself of foods your love. Everything is good in moderation.

Title: Mental Health Awareness

Date: Week of October 5th, 2005

Info: One in every five families across American is affected by mental illness. Yet, a stigma still surrounds those suffering with the disorders. That's one reason why the La Crosse County chapter of the National Alliance for the Mentally Ill has teamed up with the mayor to shed light on mental health issues. Together, they raised a flag hand painted by a woman suffering from bi-polar disorder. Rachel Mithelman says simply opening up and talking about the disease is the key to raising awareness. Mayor John Medinger also proclaimed the week Mental Awareness Week in La Crosse. This coincides with the national observance that started back in 1979.

Title: Cold Turkey

Date: Week of November 17th, 2004

Info: Some Franciscan Skemp Healthcare employees celebrated the Great American Smokeout in a unique way. In an attempt to support those trying to quit smoking, the cold turkey way, the MarketPlace is serving up cold turkey sandwiches on special. But the serious side to this light-hearted gimmick, is that it's also a great opportunity to get people talking about quitting. Doris Doherty is a nurse who smoked for 20 years, but finally quit using the cold turkey method. She says it's one of the most effective ways to quit, but it's also the most challenging, and may not be for everyone. Smokers should be aware that going cold tureky means having intense withdrawal symptoms, like irritability and drowsiness because of the quick drop in nicotene levels.

FCC 6: RECREATION

Title: Halloween

Date: Week of October 25th, 2004

Info: Halloween is always one of the most popular holidays, for kids and adults alike. This year Halloween falls on a Sunday. And the La Crosse Police Department wants to make sure everyone has a fun, yet safe time. Trick-or-treat hours are from 4 until 8PM. Young kids should always be accompanied by an adult, and kids are encouraged to stay within their local neighborhoods. And with nightfall coming earlier this time of year, drivers are also encouraged to be extra cautious on the roads. Anyone who wants to greet trick-or-treaters should leave their front light on.

Title: Christmas Shopping

Date: Week of November 26th, 2004

Info: Taking advantage of early-bird specials is a tradition in many families, the day after Thanksgiving. The day is also known as "Black Friday," because it's the first day retailers see their balance sheets move from red into the black. Shoppers filled the Best Buy parking lot just after six in the morning, the day after Christmas. About three hundred of them started lining up outside the Onalaska store, as early as 10:30 Thanksgiving night. Many stores offer a few deeply discounted items to provide the motivation to set the alarm early on a day many did not have to work. And while Black Friday is one of the busiest shopping days, it's not the busiest. That distinction goes to the day before Christmas Eve.

Title: Hunting and Fishing Licenses

Date: Week of December 3rd, 2004

Info: You may have to pay more if you want to hunt or fish in Wisconsin next year. The Department of Natural Resources in Wisconsin has asked Madison to increase gun and bow deer hunting license fees from the current $20 to $32. They also want to increase the basic resident fishing license fee from $17 to $20. The DNR says the higher fees would provide new money to hire new wardens, perform more wildlife survey work, and conduct fish monitoring and habitat restoration.

Title: Deer Hunting Numbers

Date: Week of December 1st, 2004

Info: The numbers are in for the recent Wisconsin gun deer hunt season. The DNR says hunters killed 303,000 deer during the nine day hunt. Those numbers are down about 120 from last year. Wildlife officials estimate the deer population at about 1.7 million throughout the state. That's the largest herd estimate in the past four years. In west-central Wisconsin, the DNR estimates 109,000 deer were shot, which is up about 7,000 from last year.

FCC 7: CHILDREN'S ISSUES

Title: TATU

Date: Week of December 15th, 2004

Info: Some local teenagers are taking an active stance in the fight against tobacco. The teens are part of a group called Teens Against Tobacco Use, or TATU. The group sat down with Dr. Micahel Fiore, a nationally reknowned expert on smoking. Dr. Fiore congraulated the La Crosse teens for the tremendous efforts against smoking. He told the kids that the tobacco industry spends $12 billion a year on ads that target mostly kids. Those ads are powerful, but Dr. Fiore is hoping that the teens will take his anti-tobacco message and spread it throughout school halls everywhere. Fiore says teenagers do have a powerful voice. He also asked the teens to support a plan to raise cigarette taxes because studies show steeper taxes would greatly reduce teen smoking.

Title: Bikes for Tykes

Date: Week of December 20th, 2004

Info: You probably asked Santa for one when you were a kid. We're talking about bicycles. And thanks to the community's help, 70 less-fortunate children will have one under the tree this Christmas. The program is called Bikes for Tykes, and was sponsored by Saturn of La Crosse, the Salvation Army, Geoffrey's Toys 'R Us, and WXOW-TV. For every vehicled purchased, a bike was donated. The kids will also be able to keep them and their bikes safe. They each get helmets and a bike lock with each bike.

SHAKEN BABY SYNDROME

Seven years ago, the trial of Louise Woodward brought to national attention a terrible kind of child abuse called "shaken baby syndrome." She was convicted of second-degree murder in 1997 after authorities in Massachusetts accused her of shaking to death 8-month-old Matthew Eappen. Primetime talks to two experts about how real the accusations are.

R. KELLY

Scandal-plagued singer R. Kelly says he's misunderstood. Even as he fights multiple child pornography charges he tells Primetime Live's Jay Schadler, "I'm going to do my music until The Man comes to get me." "I'm a good person, man. I love people," The R&B star is best known for 1996's smash hit "I Believe I Can Fly."

JOURNEY INTO AFRICA

A poverty-stricken African mountain kingdom is one of the last places you'd expect a member of the British monarchy to visit — and stay for two months. But that is precisely what Prince Harry, the younger of Princess Diana's two sons, did after graduating from secondary school. Britain's Prince Harry talks with ABC about his trip to Lesotho earlier this year.

HOLLYWOOD vs. HEARTLAND

In the new film "Ocean's Twelve," a variety of Hollywood A-listers play professionals, each with a special skill, who band together to pull off a gambit none of them could accomplish individually. The film might be seen as a metaphor for real life. Six of "Ocean's" stars — George Clooney, Brad Pitt, Matt Damon, Catherine Zeta-Jones, Andy Garcia and Don Cheadle — recently sat down with ABC News' Diane Sawyer for an exclusive interview about family, fame and public perception.

Thursday, December 9, 2004

SURVIVORS

When four U.S. Forest Service ecologists and their pilot took off in a small, single-engine plane from Kalispell, Mont., they never imagined that their excursion to a remote research camp in the northern Rocky Mountains would end in both tragedy and triumph. Miraculously, two of the passengers would walk away after the plane crashed — but not before facing the deaths of their colleagues and coming to grips with their own mortality.

Thursday, December 16, 2004

PELOSI CASE

"Primetime" correspondent Cynthia McFadden conducted exclusive interviews with some of the key players. In an interview, the father of Daniel Pelosi, the New York electrician convicted of murder in one of the most sensational trials in recent memory, tells says that he still is ambivalent about the verdict — despite testifying for the prosecution during the trial. in the trial of Daniel Pelosi.

MARRIED TO AN AL QAEDA

A California woman reveals to ABC News that she unknowingly married a Muslim extremist who helped set up what authorities say was one of the first al Qaeda sleeper cells out of their Orange County apartment complex. Saraah Olson says she was married to a suspected al Qaeda operative who was part of a terrorist sleeper cell.

FALL OF MUSICAL PRODIGY

John Forté made a terrible decision. For Forté, life has had a dramatic ascent — and an equally dramatic drop. Born into humble circumstances, he became a major success in his chosen career — and now languishes in a federal prison. But parts of the glamorous life he once led are still with him. One celebrity family is even fighting so that he can put his life on the upswing again.

KINDRID SPIRITS

The last two years have been a roller-coaster ride for 10-year-old Genia Plummer. She suffers from a rare genetic skin disease called epidermolysis bullosa, or EB. Her fate was in question until she met Stacey Plummer, her soon to be adoptive mother.

FIRST FAMILY POLITICS

President George W. Bush's younger brother, Neil Bush, 49, has put himself and his prominent family into an unflattering election year spotlight. In a revealing videotaped divorce proceeding obtained by 20/20, Neil disclosed numerous business deals that gave him generous financial benefits for minimal effort.

VOICE OF MODERATION

When his London-to-Washington flight was unexpectedly diverted to another city, it didn't occur to the singer once known as Cat Stevens that he was the problem. When it finally did, he suddenly felt very vulnerable. "I was literally cut off from my family, from my daughter. I was in the dark," the musician, now known as Yusuf Islam, told ABC News' Elizabeth Vargas. British singer says he seeks peaceful path with Islam.

Friday, October 15, 2004

THE SAUDI ROYAL FAMILY

Saudi law is harsh with regard to drug trafficking; three accused drug smugglers were reported to have been beheaded just last month, according to the Saudi Interior Ministry. However, the influence of the royal family can be formidable. ABC News looks into Prince Nayef bin Fawwaz Al Shalaan who is under indictment by U.S. and French authorities for smuggling cocaine.

ABUSIVE COACHES

ABC News speaks with Becca Robinson who was sexually abused by her gymnastics coach, who is now behind bars. She tells kids who may be going through what she endured to "tell their parents right now."

Friday, October 21, 2004

SCHOOL TRAGEDY

It has been seven weeks since the world watched a horrible tragedy unfold at School No. 1 in Beslan. More than 1,200 men, women and children from the village arrived at the school on Sept. 1 to celebrate the first day of the new school year. Instead, they were taken hostage by heavily armed terrorists. ABC News Correspondent Elizabeth Vargas files a special report from Beslan, Russia, site of the tragic school siege that left hundreds dead.

TELL-ALL

Rocker Tommy Lee, a man who has lived it all and loved it, is now telling all in a new book, "Tommyland." First, he talks candidly to 20/20.

THE INQUIRER

John Stossel takes a look at a hot new book, He's Just Not That Into You, that's giving single women some "tough love" advice about relationships.

Friday, October 29, 2004

SIMPSON FAME

He has made his daughters Jessica and Ashlee Simpson two of today's hottest pop stars. Joe Simpson talks with Elizabeth Vargas about the incredible success of his family business.

Friday, November 5, 2004

SEX: MYTHS, LIES AND STRAIGHT TALK

Do singles have better sex lives? Are women born to be married and monogamous? 20/20 takes a look at dating, mating and our sexual side — and 10 things our mothers never taught us.

Friday, November 12, 2004

AMERICAN IDOL

Elizabeth Vargas talks with "American Idol" star Fantasia about her new life and recording career.

WIFE SWAP

You've seen "Wife Swap" on television. John Stossel takes a look at couples who take part in real life wife swaps.

Friday, November 19, 2004

BEHIND THE SCENES

Call them "Independent Women" or "Survivors" or "Bootylicious" or just an R&B phenomenon, Destiny's Child is back. The reunion of Michelle Williams, Kelly Rowland and Beyonce, now a one-name megastar, has the music industry buzzing. The trio allowed 20/20 a rare behind-the-scenes glimpse as the members prepped for their new tour.

TRANSGENDER TWIN

Thirty-five years ago, near Anchorage, Alaska, Juanita and Liana Barbachano were born identical twins. Today, the twin sisters are now sister and brother.

COLLEGE CHEATING

John Stossel reports on cheating in college and how it has become big business for some.

Friday, November 26, 2004

HATE CRIME

In an exclusive interview with 20/20's Elizabeth Vargas, Russell Henderson, left, and Aaron McKinney talk about the 1998 slaying of Matthew Shepard.

Friday, December 3, 2004

SPORTS DOPING

In an exclusive interview with "20/20," Victor Conte says he created illegal drug regimens for some of the biggest names in sports. Martin Bashir has his debut report in an exclusive interview with the man at the center of a doping scandal that has rocked the sports world.

Friday, December 10, 2004

BREAKING THE CODE

In a report by Elizabeth Vargas, ABC News' "20/20" has an exclusive sit-down interview with Mary Byler, the woman who broke the Amish code by reporting sexual abuse to authorities outside of her Amish community.

GLOBAL WARMING

Michael Crichton poses questions about global warming in a new thriller about eco-terrorists called "State of Fear." Author says environmentalists are "forming false fears".

CONFESSIONS OF A TAX SCAMMER

Federal officials say an undercover investigation by "20/20" helped expose one of the country's leading tax scammers, Jerome Schneider, who was sentenced to six months in prison. The original report that aired in 1997 revealed how Schneider, through books and seminars, promised wealthy Americans a clever and legal way to help them keep their money from the Internal Revenue Service.

TOO GRATUITOUS

The last time "20/20" did a story on the question of tipping was in 1999, when the economy was booming. Back then many people didn't think twice about leaving very large tips, but that's no longer the case. Tip jars are appearing in more and more places, and some think the practice has gone too far.

Friday, December 17, 2004

SUMMIT IN THE SUN

While officials reported a continuing freeze on hiring new agents and a halt to non-essential spending in chilly Washington, D.C., ABC News cameras caught Ridge, along with several aides, relaxing by a pool at a Honolulu resort. It was listed as "office time" on his official schedule. He and other government officials attended a security conference that some are calling a boondoggle.

HIGH-TECH SNOOPING

It's the age-old game of "cat and mouse" — cheating spouses. These days infidelity is even the stuff of reality TV. But you don't need a camera crew and private detectives to catch a cheating lover. These days all you need is a little software, but there are a host of new gadgets out there that may help cheaters stay one step ahead.

FOOL'S GOLD

"20/20" went on a gold-buying spree — with hidden cameras rolling — at jewelry stores and markets in Dallas, Maryland, Virginia and New York City and learned that if you're not careful you may end up buying glorified tinsel.

PANHANDLING

Lawyers succeeded in overturning a Chicago ordinance banning panhandling. But did the legal victory benefit the lawyers more than the panhandlers and Chicago taxpayers?
